

Interested in Applying for the Scholarship?

As is the case with Rhodes Scholars, the Foundation scholar is selected on criteria of character and extra-curricular interests, as well as academic excellence. The scholarship is tenable at any Canadian University, for up to 24 months, and aspiring applicants are encouraged to approach the university of their choice before the selection process. All applicants must be 25 or under as of December 31 in the year of application, permanent residents of the United Kingdom and an Oxford graduate who took Finals in June 2011 or an Oxford undergraduate who will take Finals in June 2012.

Oxford students interested in applying should make enquiries to:

The Warden of Rhodes House

The Canadian Rhodes Scholars Foundation Scholarship 2012-2013

Graduate Studies in Canada

The Canadian Rhodes Scholars Foundation Scholarship

2012-2013

Graduate Scholarship to Canada

- Prestigious scholarship to fund graduate study in Canada.
- Chance to compete for scholarship modeled on Rhodes Scholarships
- Canada has world class universities with state of art research facilities—previous scholars have studied at McGill, Dalhousie, Toronto, British Columbia and dozens of other universities. Information about graduate studies in Canada can be obtained from the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada at http://www.aucc.ca/can_uni/index_e.html
- Scholarship is open to all disciplines—there are no restrictions on the university or course of study you can choose—though you must be admitted to your programme
- Canada is a visually stunning and vast landscape, with a young and highly diverse, multi-lingual society which presents a unique perspective on contemporary issues

Winning the Prize

A scholarship is offered each year through the generosity of the Canadian Rhodes Scholars Foundation, funded by Oxford alumni who were Rhodes Scholars from Canada or support the Scholarship's objectives. The Scholarship provides an allowance of C$16,000 per year, for up to two years plus tuition fees and airfare and travel allowance. It will be awarded on the basis of academic excellence and character.

Travel Allowance

To cover your air travel from the British Isles, the scholarship comes with an allowance of C$1,000.

A further C$1,000 is also provided to cover travel within Canada.

How to Apply

There are no standard forms for applications, however written application should cover the topics below. Applications should be addressed to the Warden of Rhodes House, Rhodes House, Oxford, OX1 3RG and should be submitted before 14 November 2011.
