OXFORD'S ATTRACTIONS, RESTAURANTS AND DRINKING SPOTS

ATTRACTIONS

The Bodleian Library – one of the oldest and biggest libraries in Britain. It is one of a series of interconnected libraries dotted throughout Oxford that are collectively referred to as the Bodleian Libraries. With an impressive history, some of the buildings were established in the Middle Ages. The Old Library and The Divinity School are all worth a visit – some featured in Harry Potter films.

The Radcliffe Camera – AKA 'The Rad Cam' built in the 18th century. One of Oxford's main reading rooms and home to several of the Bodleian Library's collections. It is one of the most photographed spots in Oxford.

The Ashmolean – Oxford's flagship museum and widely recognised as the first modern museum in the world. It was established in 1683 and is home to many Greek and Roman sculptures and ceramics and textiles from the Middle East. A renovation took place in 2009 and there is now a rooftop café.

Punting – During the summer months this is an Oxford must! Two rivers run through Oxford; the Isis (Thames) and the Cherwell. You can go punting on both but the Cherwell typically offers the best scenery and fewer crowds. Two popular starting points are Magdalen Bridge and Cherwell Boathouse.

The Pitt Rivers Museum – One of Oxford's quirkier and most interesting Museums. Centred around the collection of Augustus Henry Lane-Fox Pitt Rivers, the museum opened in 1887 to showcase its anthropological treasures from around the world. It features over half a million artifacts, which together tell the story of the history of man.

Sheldonian Theatre – Situated next to the Old Bodleian Library on Broad Street. A Neoclassical style D-shaped building and the official ceremonial hall of Oxford University. This is where matriculation and graduation takes place for the students of Oxford. It was Christopher Wren's first significant architectural project before he went on to design important London landmarks after the Great Fire, including St Paul's Cathedral.

University Church of St Mary's – forms one side of Radcliffe Square and is clustered by All Soul's College, Brasenose College, the Old Bodleian and the Radcliffe Camera. You can climb to the top of St Mary's Tower for a small fee, and some of the best views of the city.

The Bridge of Sighs – supposedly looks like the Bridge of Sighs in Venice however this one connects two parts of Hertford College. It is next to the Turf Tavern which is one of Oxford's oldest pubs.

Oxford Castle and Prison – a medieval Norman castle that's been transformed into a historical site, hotel and entertainment complex. The Malmaison hotel has transformed former cells into hotel bedrooms. You can take a tour of the buildings history (led by costumed characters), including a 900-year old crypt.

The Oxford University Museum of Natural History – House in the same building as the Pitt Rivers Museum. A large collection of zoological and geological specimens. Huge dinosaur skeletons, fossils and replicas all to be seen. You can also see the Oxford Dodo which is said to be the inspiration for Lewis Carroll's character in Alice in Wonderland.

Modern Art Oxford – free admission to a small gallery of innovate exhibitions.

The Grand Café – offers quintessentially British afternoon tea and stands site of England's oldest coffee house.

The Oxford Artisan Distillery – Oxford's first craft distillery and one of the world's very few craft distilleries. They offer tours and sometimes live music and comedy.

Carfax Tower – The tower is all that remains of the 13th century St Martin's Church, the official city church of Oxford since 1122. In 1896, the main part of the church was demolished to make more space for traffic in the area. The tower is 74 feet tall and no building in central Oxford may be constructed higher than it. It is possible to climb the 99 steps to the top of the tower for views of the city skyline.

Westgate Shopping Centre – Oxford’s major shopping centre which was remodelled and extended between 2016-2017. The original building was built between 1970-1972. There are approximately 125 stores and services and it is open until 8:00pm.

Oxford Botanical Garden, Oxford University Parks, Port Meadow – Offer beautiful walks.

Blenheim Palace – World Heritage Site in Woodstock with over 300 years of History and home to the 12th Duke of Marlborough and his Family. Beautiful gardens, lake, and many options of walking routes.
